

Student Wins Place on Harper College Board

By Mike Sullivan
 Northwest voters Saturday elected a Harper College student to the college's board of education.
 Lawrence L. Moon, 21-year-old sophomore at the college, made local history when he emerged the winner over John L. Karar, 46, incumbent trustee and a nuclear scientist. Richard L. Johnson, 44, college board chairman, led the balloting with 11,817 votes.

Moon scored 6,430 votes in Kung's 6-32.
 About 13,700 taxpayers voted in Junior College District 512's election, compared with 6,500 voters who turned out last year to elect two unopposed candidates, according to Robert J. Wilson Jr., 309 Waverly Pl., a Moon supporter.
 "National history may be in the making" in their suburb at the moment.

Harper faculty senate president: "I haven't heard of any student ever elected to a board, certainly not around here and possibly nationally."
 "I understand that Mr. Moon is a fine young man and I am sure that having a responsible young adult on the board is bound to add a new dimension and greater scope to the board's representation," he said. "As a young adult he can present a new viewpoint which perhaps has not been as fairly presented before."

 MOON, 21, is the youngest person ever elected to public office in Illinois. Wilson pointed out. Lary turned 21 years old last Wednesday.
 When contacted by The Day yesterday for his comments on the reelection as a trustee, Johnson said: "I am delighted with my reelection. That is all I can say for the present."
 Saturday at about 9 p.m.

soon began building up members for the board. Young persons and their followers were in the majority.
 "Are you sure Larry is winning?" young people asked when the trend to victory for Moon was clear.
 "It's incredible," shouted one telephone caller at the election headquarters.
 Dr. Robert Lakti, Harper president, had no comment when asked for his opinion on the election of a student to the board. He said he would be happy to see him succeed in his studies.

 They are both young and well educated, said the college's board of trustees, which includes Pauline and Margaret.
 Northern Husker, owner of the Central Lincoln station at the corner of Illinois 83 and Central in Mount Prospect, handed pamphlets to all of his customers last week.

Board Members Re-elected

Voter OK Hig School Plan

This artist's rendering shows what District 214's new school and newest high school will look like when constructed in Rolling Meadows on Central Rd. Residents of the district voted on approval on Saturday to construct the $7,750,000 complex that will open in the fall of 1971 to serve the southwest section of the district. The building will serve as enrollment of 2,200.

District 214 voters went to the polls in record numbers Saturday and gave a resounding vote of approval to the expansion plans for the high school district.

Approved was the building of an $8.75 million high school in Rolling Meadows.

Approved was the building of two tax rate increases and reduction of three incumbent members of the district board.

About 10,700 voters showed up at the polls in the 25 precincts in Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships, the highest total vote ever registered in a district referendum.

Rumsfeld OEO Job Expected To Open Representative Seat

By Richard Crab
 Although the matter is not likely to be settled until midweek, all indications are Republican Rep. Donald Rumsfeld will be the of Economic Opportunity. Should Rumsfeld resign from Congress to head OEO, there is some doubt a successor would be elected from the 13th District before the next general election.

An aide in Rumsfeld's Washington office today confirmed that the matter was under consideration.

The Rumsfeld office indicated there would be an announcement, one way or another, from the White House later in the week.

Rumsfeld is scheduled to address the annual luncheon in his honor given by the Women of the 13th Congressional District next week from today in Glenview.

Rumsfeld accepted the appointment, he will take over the job formerly held by R. Sargent Shriver, now ambassador to France.

Commuter Garage, Shop Center On Board Agenda

The proposed commuter garage and the E. J. Korvette shopping center will be discussed at two special Village Board meetings this week.

Tonight the board will convene at 8 p.m. to discuss and perhaps finalize the concept wanted for a commuter garage.

At a meeting with a consulting firm, Thursday, the board heard representative Marwood Rupp prepare a garage and an underground for Sigwalt at Northwest Hwy.

At the April 21 meeting, the board will decide tomorrow night what kind of plan they want, an application for federal funds that would cover two-thirds or more of the cost will be prepared and submitted to Washington.

Tuesday night a special Village Board committee studying the proposed shopping center at the northwest corner of Rand and Arlington Heights Rd. will meet with representatives of the E. J. Korvette department store company to discuss questions on traffic and over problems.

Residents from the area who attended the Village Board meeting last Monday will be given a chance to voice their views on the center.

Hikers for the Hungry Turn in Earnings

Money began to dribble in yesterday as participants in the "Hike for the Hungry" sponsored by the Northbrook Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, were on hand to turn in the money.

When all the money was collected, it will be divided equally among the Emergency Fund for Bialla, Ecuador Agricultural Self Help and the Northbrook Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows.

They will use the money to provide food for the hungry.

A few committee members spoke to the group of about 300 students and some adults who had participated in the hike.

"We don't know how much money we turned in today," said Arlen Holmen, treasurer of the finance committee. "The money is in a safe-deposit box and I'll be counted on Tuesday."

Holmen said the committee estimated about $55,000 or more was raised in the hike.

"We don't expect to have all for money until the end of May," said Holmen.

12 Vying for Seats On Meadows Council

Tomorrow Rolling Meadows voters will choose five aldermen from among the 12 men running.

Of the 12 running for seats in all five wards, five are incumbents and have been endorsed for re-election by the Meadows voters.

All five incumbents are running as aldermen, but only three are running with either

Republican or Democratic party backing.

In Ward 1, James E. Watson, 2700 Oak, is running for his third term. Elected in 1964, Watson has been in 13-year residence of the city, has been on the council since 1963.

Ward 2, incumbent Thomas J. Waldron, 2105 Hubbard, was elected in 1964. He has been on the council for 10 years, is running against William A. Bialla, 2105 Hubbard, who has been on the council since 1963.

Waldron was chairman of the High School District 214 citizens' committee which

Three Seats Open

5 Running for Buffalo Grove Board

Five men are running for three of the six at-large trustee seats in the Buffalo Grove municipal elections tomorrow, three with the backing of the Progressive Homeowners Party, two as independents.

Running for four-year terms with PHP backing are Edward Fabish, 470 Lakeside; Neil Hopkins, 241 Forest; and Beverly Warner, 495 Triffin.

The two independents are Gary Armstrong, 274 Timber Hill; and James Laubin, 244 University.

Hopkins is a resident of Buffalo Grove for more than nine years, is seeking his first election office, and is the manager for International Lutheran Church board of ministers. The church is in Prospect Heights.

Laubin, who lists his credentials attendance at all Village Board meetings, is chairman of the Jaycee governmental affairs committee, a post he has had since the committee was formed more than a year ago.

Buffalo Grove Precincts

Buffalo Grove citizens will elect three trustees tomorrow from the five voting precincts for the Buffalo Board of Trustees, open for election 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on April 14.

Precinct 1 - Model home, 916 S. 50th St.
Precinct 2 - Elmview Park Building, 150 Ransom St.
Precinct 3 - Louisa May Alcott School, 530 Bernards.
Precinct 4 - Model home, 1 Stratford Ct.

Independent Gary Armstrong is making his bid for village office since moving into Buffalo Grove a little more than a year ago.

Armstrong, midwest and west manager for McGraw-Hill Publishers in Skokie, is a member of the Stratford Homeowners Association.

Dist. 23 Tax Hike Loses by 49 Votes

Voters in Prospect Heights School District 23 Saturday narrowly defeated a proposal to increase the education fund tax rate 1.25 percent. Three men, all caucused, were elected to three-year terms on the school board.

In fourth and fifth spots were Roy Weisberg, 1927 Maple Ln., Arlington Heights, 48 votes; and Richard H. Clewett, 2051 N. Parkway, Prospect Heights, 37.

The tax increase was considered by school board members to be most necessary to finance planning for school projects. The district has issued $270,000 in tax anticipation warrants, 70 percent of the legal limit.

HE IS A plant superintendent for the Globe Glass Co., in Elk Grove Village. A Fabish, who works for Baranum Florist in Skokie, has lived in the village for eight years. He is chairman of the Plan Commission, a post he has held for the last two years. He is chairman of the police force for two years and a desk sergeant. A resident of Buffalo Grove for 25 years, he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Jaycees, was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Buffalo Grove Municipal Building Committee that added in the past year a referendum for the new municipal building.

He is also an elected member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church board of ministers. The church is in Prospect Heights.

5 Million Shopping Center Gets State and County OK

The proposed $5 million E. Korvette shopping center at Arlington Heights and Rand Rd., has received state and county approval regarding traffic problems, although both agencies laid down several qualifications for the project.

The informal approval was given during a meeting yesterday with Korvette officials.

Truett Palmer, chairman of the county committee, said the state and county were "bitter" than Korvette's proposal, but representative of the department store chain agreed to the conditions set down by the state.

THE COMPANY has requested a public hearing tonight to give residents a chance to voice their opinions regarding the project.

Palmer said the board committee sought advice from the state to find out "what they consider a good procedure for the development of roads in the proposed shopping center area."

COUNTY officials told Korvette representatives they would have to widen Arlington Heights Rd. one lane on their side of the road to handle extra traffic and storm drainage, expected to run toward Arlington Heights Rd. would have to be handled by underground facilities.

The county said Arlington Heights Rd. may be widened to four lanes from Rand Rd. to the Lake County Rd. next year, and if this is done an acceleration lane would be added along the shopping center.

The county also advised shopping center officials to contemplate only one entrance-exit onto Arlington Heights Rd., probably opposite by La.

Boy Nabbed In Burglary Attempt

A 14-year old Arlington Heights boy is in the custody of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. after a burglary attempt in the cafeteria at the Bell office, 103 W. Eastman.

The youth escaped early yesterday from Bell employee Richard Hayden, who police he caught the boy in the company's second-floor cafeteria.

Hayden said his suspicion was aroused shortly after 3 a.m. when an alarm sounded on one of the building's doors.

Moments later Hayden reportedly heard loud noises and traced them to the cafeteria where he nabbed the boy who had attempted to hide behind a partition.

THE YOUTH fled from the building moments before police arrived. They had been surprised at Hayden's request, by switchboard operator Dorothy Allen. Left behind was a bag containing $12.44 which had been taken from a safe and cash register in the cafeteria.

A photo of the boy was later identified by Hayden. He is 14 years old and was picked up at his school by Lt. George Ekblad, Joseph Schneider and Richard Robinson of the detective bureau.

At the police station he was again identified by Hayden. He is 14 years old and was picked up at his school by Lt. George Ekblad, Joseph Schneider and Richard Robinson of the detective bureau.

Fire Checks Underway

By Janice Barry

"Fire Chief Harvey Carothers reported on the voluntary home fire inspection to the Arlington Heights Safety Commission last night.

In a written report, Carothers said that out of 399 homes contacted, 183 were inspected, 174 of the occupants were not home, 42 refused, and 10 had invalids residing there.

The inspections began March 17 and continued five days a week as the weather permitted. Inspections began at 9:30 a.m. and continued until noon.

Inspections were made on Evergreen, Dunton and Highland on both sides of the railroad tracks.

The inspections were of fire hazards, electric wiring, and other safety hazards. The program is entirely voluntary.

and no records of violations are kept.

A report of the inspection is left with the householders with suggestions for correction of any violation found.

Day-long stickers, which will be circular with a large "I" in the center, will be placed on homes of invalids desiring them so that should there be a fire the fire department would know what extra measures would be necessary.

ANY HOUSEHOLDER on any street other than the one already mentioned who wish to have their homes inspected should contact the fire department.

A bicycle rodeo will be held May 24 at Recreation Park. It will be sponsored by the Jaycees and the Safety Commission.

children, boys and girls 12 years old may participate.

Bicycle inspection will be held from April 24 through late May with all elementary schools participating.

Craig Siegel from Hersey High School presented the problem of a traffic light at Thomas and Rand and the Commission requested the Village Board to authorize placing a light there which will operate during school hours.

Jack Siegel, village attorney, was to prepare an ordinance pertaining to above-ground swimming pools, but was not present at the meeting.

The question of stop signs and yield signs was delayed until the next meeting so that more research and tests could be made.

Ridge-Walnut Grade Crossing Request Planned

A petition to allow the village to construct a crossing over the Chicago & North Western Ry. tracks will be filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission today, said Village Atty. Jack Siegel.

Siegel said the petition for the Ridge-Walnut grade crossing will be scheduled for a hearing by the commission.

but added he had "no idea" when the hearing might be scheduled.

Siegel was at a village board meeting last night in place of Village Atty. Jack Siegel, who was in Evanston attending their City Council meeting.

Hospital's Cobalt Machine in Use

By Ben Clarke

A female patient yesterday became the first person to receive treatment from the cobalt machine recently added to the Radiology and Nuclear Medicine department of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

Located in a specially built room, the cobalt machine will provide controlled, deep X-ray therapy for cancer patients.

THE HEART of the machine is a piece of isotopes material the size of a lump of sugar. The two-ton source head of the unit, which holds the radioactive cobalt, has a shield of lead and uranium to eliminate stray radiation, and there are elaborate lead and uranium controls to regulate the desired beam.

At least four times as much radiation can be produced by the cobalt as compared to normal X-rays, providing a greater depth of penetration.

Cancer, even one detected from radioactive cobalt in a controlled beam, to destroy undesirable tissue.

THE BEAM can be controlled to a 5-cm. area from the source head and even further using shielding blocks and wedges.

A normal course of treatment would be daily, five days a week for four to six weeks, with each exposure to the rays only a few minutes.

Continued exposure to the rays from the cobalt machine reduces the unwanted cell.

At the Northwest Community Hospital, the machine is used for the treatment of cancer patients.

THE COBALT room has two layers of lead shielding built into the 4-foot cement walls, floor and ceiling to protect the operator and others who may be exposed to the machine's radiation on a day-to-day basis.

A primary advantage of the unit is northwest Cook and western Lake County is providing a service for cancer patients who travel to and from Chicago Hospitals, Arlington Heights.

Blowing the Scene

By Catherine O'Donnell

THE BRAVING RING
The merry-go-round broke down this morning, and the merry-go-round broke down this morning. The merry-go-round broke down this morning. The merry-go-round broke down this morning.

To make certain that the fun and merriment would extend to all age levels, the Leighton brought in a rock band by the name of the Braving Ring. The six eager teen musicians plugged in their amplifiers and the first sound that emerged was dazzling. It shook the house. It shook the neighborhood. And it had been in California, everyone would have been sure the earthquake had arrived.

As soon as the ice-tingling sound had the teen guests on their feet ready to do their thing, the music suddenly stopped. The Braving Ring had blown a fuse. The fuse was replaced and the next notes echoed through the northwest territory and stopped. The fuse had blown again. The band was quietly waved off the sound track by hoists. Soley. "We blew the scene," announced guitarist Rick Trevor of Fremad High School in his parents. Bill and Rena Trevor of Red Wing Court, Rolling Meadows, later as he unloaded his paraphernalia. "First time I ever knew what one of those expressions meant," commented one audience member. The Braving Ring are from the Graduate, who plays the trumpet, guitar and keys. Bruce Stanley, drums, "vibes" and harp. (HARP?) Mike Ferman, tenor sax, alto sax, and baritone sax. Ray Reppe who blows a mean trumpet, and Gary Gook who furnishes the rhythm on the bass. The five attend St. Victor.

A Talk On Drug Use And Abuse

By KATHY EVANS

Drugs and narcotics are among the most popular topics of discussion today.

Last Thursday and Friday, April 10 and 11, Harry Jaeger and his assistants, Priya Stavros spoke to the students of St. James High School on behalf of the National Council for Prevention of Drug Abuse.

The first thing Thursday morning all the students found into the gymnasium for an all-school assembly concerning drugs. Later that day and all through Friday the students were divided into groups during their gym period for a question and answer type period.

a movie, "The Drug Dealer," dealing with a teenage boy who is getting into drugs and how he turned out towards drugs. After the film he introduced Stavros who talked about his past experience. He had been on heroin for 17 years and has finally kicked the habit.

Pete goes from school to school looking for the victims and tries to tell it like it is. "I'm just trying to tell the stuff because it's supposed to make them feel good. I'm here to tell you about the consequences and believe me they're not great," he said.

During the question and answer period, the students saw a film, "The Drug Dealer," dealing with a teenage boy who is getting into drugs and how he turned out towards drugs. After the film he introduced Stavros who talked about his past experience. He had been on heroin for 17 years and has finally kicked the habit.

WHEN SOMEONE
asked when Pete started on drugs and why, he replied, "I started on drugs because I was just for kicks. That's how most of the kids start out. They say they won't but the harder stuff hit once they are hooked, it's awfully hard to stop."

Most of the students admired him for his honesty and most courageous presentation. Kids really listened to him and didn't turn him off because he wasn't preaching and TELLING the kids not to take the drugs.

He was indirectly telling them with past experience and first hand accounts on the serious dangers and terrible consequences one will have after encountering drugs.

He went on to say that "Not too many people take care of their own health."

Many people aren't aware of how dangerous Speed is. It's a stimulant, it's a habit, it's a danger. Speed for one year can cost you five years of your life and it deteriorates the various organs. Jaeger gave the example of Ginger Baker who had to jump himself in the water when he was in the air because the drugs could either kill him or make him a cripple.

Harper Board Refers Students To Attorney on Conduct Code

The Harper College board of trustees Thursday took no action on a student conduct code presented to it for review by several members of the Harper Student Senate.

Trustee Milton Harmon said that the student representative about the code: "Did Frank Huest (board attorney) give any opinion on whether the board should adopt this code?"

The student leaders said they had no such legal counsel on this with and check on the code with college attorneys. "If you want to do it, you do it," said Milton Harmon.

The code was designed by Frank Burt, director of student activities, and the faculty members of the executive board of the college.

Ken Ryan of Des Plaines, executive producer; Lauree West of Mount Prospect, vice president; Cindy Ewerick, Elk Grove Village, treasurer; Mary Rogers, of Round Lake, secretary; and Terry Harper, Elk Grove Village, corporate secretary.

Record Number of Pupils On Way to High Schools

By Richard Crabb

Enrollment in the elementary schools whose graduates will attend District 214 high schools has exceeded 50,000 students for the first time.

"There undoubtedly are more than 50,000 students enrolled in the public schools of the Arlington Heights, Elk Grove and Palatine townships zoned by High School District 214," said Jack Martin, assistant to the superintendent of District 214.

"This is what we have been pointing out all the time," he said. "Our task is not to prepare for students who will come to us in the future. They are here now as students in the elementary schools."

In the last school-by-school enrollment study based on Feb. 1 reports, the total enrollment in the seven school districts and 13 private schools in the District 214 area was just under 60,000. The next detailed enrollment study will be made at the end of the present school year.

HERE ARE some of the highlights contained in the new enrollment report:

"Private schools account for nearly 10,000 of the total enrollment in the elementary schools of the District 214 service area.

—For the first time the Elk Grove elementary school of District 214 reported a larger enrollment than in Arlington Heights Elementary School District 25. District 25 enrollment was 10,252, compared with 9,801 for District 25.

—The smallest enrollment for any one school is that of St. John School of Mount Prospect with 57 pupils.

Jacobson Upsets Balek In Meadows

Frederick Jacobson was the only man to toughen up in the runoff in yesterday's Elkhorn Meadows aldermanic election.

Gripe Of The Day

Yummy candy that I can see but never eat again because I have diabetes. T.E.s. 9-year-old.

1 Driver Hurt, Given Ticket In 2-Car Crash

An Arlington Heights driver was injured and cited for a failure to yield the right of way by police yesterday when his car allegedly struck another at Sherman Rd. and Western Ave.

Gilbert A. Aronson, 40, 191 E. Aronson, Arlington Heights received the citation for the crash.

Arson was treated at Northwestern Community Hospital for a neck and will appear in Arlington Heights court May 7.

tion, beating Al. Rudolf (D) 225 votes to 190, according to unofficial results released by the city clerk's office last night.

In the other wards, incumbents easily retained their seats as:

Incumbent James Watson (D) beat Edward Earley (D) 276 to 174.

Incumbent Thomas Watson (D) beat William Miska, 468 to 255.

Incumbent Stephen Eberhard (D) beat Frank Knudsen and Lawrence Barnett. Eberhard had 299, Knudsen 182 and Barnett 23.

Incumbent Walter Wagner (D) beat Edward Donahoe and Ned Nease. Wagner tallied 358 votes to Donahoe's 41 and Nease's 279.

JACOBSON SAID he was "very pleased" with the results.

He said he expects to work well with the council members he ran as an independent because "I know most of the people I've been elected with and I've worked with them in the past."

"I think I'll fit in great," he said last night.

Mayor Rudolf Meyer, who endorsed all of the incumbents, was unavailable for comment last night.

Balek (5th) summed it up last night by saying, "I just didn't get enough votes."

He said there were no issues in the campaign and he counted for six years. He was "puzzled" Jacobson's victory was a surprise to him.

Jacobson "will make a good alderman."

Watson had one of the options that they would have to work, but they were a little overconfident, he said.

Pahl Wins New Term As Mayor

Jack Pahl was re-elected yesterday to another term as president of the village board of Elk Grove Village.

In a three-way race, Pahl won easily, getting 1,186 votes to 795 for Robert Finner and 557 for Eugene Kink.

Pahl is president of the Council of Governments of Cook County and an officer in the Northwestern Municipal Conference. His two sons are third to which he has been elected as president of Elk Grove Village, last until 1973.

Caps Taken

Arlington Heights police said yesterday that four hats were stolen from the car of Paul Price, 153 N. Arlington Heights Rd. while it was parked at his home.

Teichert Upsets Congreve

In a major upset in yesterday's Mount Prospect Village election, Mayor Daniel Congreve was ousted from office by a distant relative, Robert Teichert.

Teichert, who was elected to office four years ago on Congreve's slate, beat Congreve yesterday without a state.

It was a tight race, with Teichert winning 3,641 to 3,509. Congreve didn't make it this time around, but the rest of his slate did, because most of the other candidates were unopposed.

Only one independent trustee candidate, Carl Congreve, was able to oppose Congreve's men for village trustee.

But Kaurer arose only last week and did not gain much momentum.

Elected as village trustees are Daniel Arner, Donald Foster, George Reiter and Robert Soderman. Reiter and Soderman are incumbents.

The new village clerk is Donald Goodman.

Family Curriculum Guides Sex Education in Schools

By Lori Adams

Sex education in Arlington Heights and surrounding municipalities basically revolves around a family living curriculum, according to administrators of District 15 and District 25 schools.

"We use a family living guide that's divided on the basis of three levels, primary grades, kindergarten through third grade, intermediate grades, third grade through sixth, and junior high, sixth through eighth," said Marion Omastek, director of instruction for district 15 schools.

THE GUIDE that is used by teachers consists of three units, and emphasis is made on one unit every year through a "rotation" method. Unit I is Home, School and Community Relationship; Unit II is Mental Health and Unit III, more detailed approach for junior high students, is the Human Growth and Development.

School Districts 15 and 25 bring families into their social studies, science and health classes.

One of the most important things that a child must learn is to understand himself, his attitudes, his feelings, and his relationships, said Omastek. "Because of the school's interest in the total child, the development of each child to his potential, a comprehensive, progressive program extending from kindergarten through junior high is necessary to produce wholesome attitudes and behavior."

"THE PRIMARY responsibility for the learning role, with the home," said Omastek. "But because of the school's interest in the total child, the development of each child to his potential, a comprehensive, progressive program extending from kindergarten through junior high is necessary to produce wholesome attitudes and behavior."

The program is backed by most parents of the districts and it was developed three years ago after a committee made up of parents and teachers spent a year investigating the need of such a program.

"We don't go into great detail on human reproduction, we give an explanation on a level they will understand, and over the years of the Family Living course, sex education will take it's proper place," said Omastek.

William Bartel, fifth grade science teacher at Olive School, in District 25, said that he introduced family life and sex education into his science study by using the students to read "The Human Body" by H. H. Henshaw.

"BEFORE TAKING the students to Henshaw for the lecture and movie they would see, I prepared them factually and emotionally," said Bartel.

"We had discussed human growth through science classes and I told them the first reaction they may have would be to laugh and it would be a normal reaction."

Bartel said that when the students returned to the classroom after the trip, the school nurse took the girls in to another room where they were allowed to ask her questions that they may not have asked at the health meeting when boys were present.

Bartel did likewise with the boy students.

"Afterwards I had the students give me a list of the advantages and disadvantages of the program," said Bartel.

Buffalo Grove Elects First Woman Trustee

The first woman elected to the Buffalo Grove Village Board last night said she was "very excited."

Mrs. Beverly Warner, 405 Trinity, joined Edward Fabish and Gary Armstrong in winning board seats.

She, 470 Lauren, and Mr. Warner ran for the Progressive Housewives Party ticket, and the ticket's third candidate, Neil Hopkins, 241 Forest, joined independent James Lenahan of 244 University, in losing their bids for office.

Armstrong, of 274 Timber, an independent, was the top vote getter, winning 842 votes, compared to Fabish with 597 and Mr. Warner with 538.

Armstrong had 471 votes and Lenahan with 430, according to unofficial results released by the clerk's office last night.

Armstrong said his strong showing was the result of "a lot of hard work on the part of a lot of people and concern about where we're going in the future."

He said some 35 campaign workers aided in his weekly canvassing of flyers, and Armstrong concentrated on offices in all areas of the village.

"I'M EXCITED and very pleased," he said last night. "This is my first year as a resident of the village for slightly more than a year."

Armstrong is the nephew of McGraw-Hill publisher in Skokie.

Armstrong had the highest vote total in two precincts, three and four. He is a resident of Precinct 3.

Mrs. Warner, who has been active in women's clubs in her spare time, said she was "very excited" to be elected.

with the Westchester, Ill., women's group, said she will focus on homework.

"I feel I have the time to look into things that haven't been looked into before," she said. "I've heard some complaints concerning sidewalks and trees—things most homeowners are interested in."

"It's a small way to start," she said, adding, "but I don't think so."

Board President Donald Thompson, who supported the homeowners ticket, said he was pleased with winning two seats.

He also expressed the hope that independent Armstrong would be able to work with other board members, saying, "We had occasion where independents have been elected to the board and they fitted in very well."

He said he was looking forward to having a woman on the board.

"She'll be another divergent view and I think it will help us greatly."

Valladares Cited For Rescuing Men in Vietnam

An Arlington Heights man who extended his enlistment in the Navy to June 1969, was being praised by the Navy for his heroic efforts in rescuing injured men in the month near Da Nang.

According to a Navy spokesman, Craig L. Valladares, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Valladares, 2033 Burke Dr., a helicopter crew chief and pilot, was one of several men who disregarded impending danger, snipped their craft of rockets and cans of machine gun ammunition and rescued injured men Feb. 16 when a special forces group was attacked by the enemy.

His mother said the Feb. 16 episode was Craig's second call since he arrived in Vietnam last August.

"Craig was shot up once before," she said, "when a bullet struck the pilot's feet and lodged in the chair in which Craig was seated."

Valladares, 20, is scheduled to return home in August.

Drew Pearson to Speak On Nixon Administration

By Ruth Schuchman

Drew Pearson, nationally syndicated columnist, will present "What Lies Ahead for Nixon and the Rest of Us" in his speech before a Harper College audience tonight in Elk Grove High School's gymnasium.

The program — 14th in Harper's "Spring Cultural Series" — will begin at 8 p.m. Frank Borrelli, director of student activities, is chairman of the event. There will be a question and answer session following Pearson's address.

Students and faculty will be admitted free of charge following presentation of identification cards. The public is invited to attend at a small admission charge.

One of Washington's top reporters, Pearson has made many predictions on national and international events that have come true with remarkable frequency.

Pearson has stepped on more toes and been involved in more controversy than probably any other reporter in the history of this nation, according to Borrelli.

"PEARSON regards the job of a Washington reporter as being that of 'watchdog of the people' and since riding in the White House naturally occurs more in the party to power his biggest exposures have generally been the politicians in power," Borrelli said.

In 1959, Pearson called Castro the "Nasser of the Caribbean" at a time when the Cuban leader was friendly with American diplomats. At that time, he predicted that Russia would win an outpost in Cuba.

During interviews with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in 1960 and 1961, the columnist gained information that led him to predict the break between the eastern and western communist nations.

Now 72 years old, Pearson has had a career in the vanguard of national and international events. His column, co-authored with his associate, Jack Anderson, appears in the Chicago Daily News.

He had a running battle with the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, a Wisconsin congressman in a Senate hearing which resulted in a vote of censure, ending McCarthy's power and prestige.

More recently, Pearson and Anderson brought on the Senate investigation of Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut and the House action against Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem.

In 1958, Pearson waged a campaign against the Ku Klux Klan, climaxed by a broadcast in Atlanta, Ga., after he had answered a dare from the Klan to come to Georgia.

Recommend Shopping Center Rezoning

By Janice Burns

Despite strenuous objections, a special committee of the Village Board recommends amending and rezoning for a 55 million dollar E. J. Korvette shopping center.

The recommendation came last night at a special meeting of the committee, intended to handle public opinion, shaped land.

The area, a little less than 30 acres, roughly shaped land, is located on the northern corner of Arlington Heights and Grand Rd.

Raymond Keyes, engineer for Korvette, had estimated taxes at about $15 million a year when the center is completed, during the March 19 meeting of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

There was a meeting Monday night with officials from the state highway department, Cook County highway department, the Ivy Hill Civic Association, and Keyes.

At that meeting, state and county officials gave their informal approval of the project.

They also agreed to traffic light, driveway and road widening conditions.

SOME OF THE MAJOR

problems raised last night by the "area" were centered through Ivy Hill and Grand roads, which would be across Arlington Heights Rd. from the shopping center.

It was pointed out that E. J. Korvette, if the shopping center would be located in conditions in Ivy Hill, and lack of "buffering" of residential homes from a business district.

One resident asked if the possible loss of even temporary parking space, if a system serving Ivy Hill would be destroyed by the rezoning.

The committee said that since the drainage of the village for a hearing on the Walnut grade crossing was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday Assistant Village Atty. James Sobel said.

Sobel said the application, asking the commission to allow the village to build an air grade crossing over the Chicago & North Western tracks, would be filed on the commission's schedule for a hearing.

"I have no idea what will they were talking about a business zoning facing up to $400,000 to 150,000 homes with any buffer and it was pointed out that the village to provide some sort of traffic on that segment or duplex.

She suggested zoning part of it for business and the rest for apartment or residential. She cited Northbrook shopping center as an example of a business zone and a residential zone.

The committee agreed that she had a good point and something should be done such as rearrangement of buildings, industrial nature of the area and a zoning change. Arlington Heights Rd. is a major thoroughfare.

Village Asks State For Railroad Crossing

The application by the village for a hearing on the Walnut grade crossing was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday Assistant Village Atty. James Sobel said.

Sobel said the application, asking the commission to allow the village to build an air grade crossing over the Chicago & North Western tracks, would be filed on the commission's schedule for a hearing.

"I have no idea what will get a hearing," Sobel said, adding that action by the commission probably would not come within 30 days when the railroad has to be notified and given a chance to prepare a statement on the project.

A consulting engineer for the village, Charles McBride, said the project would cost about $100,000, about half of that would be for pavement.

McBride said the crossing from Northwest Hwy. to Eastman.

cons involving the crossing itself, including signals and protection.

The road improvement is being paid by a special assessment, and McBride said the crossing money will have to be provided by the village.

He added that the state has money set aside for crossing construction and improvement and the commission could order payment to the village from that money to help in the cost.

reluctant to discuss use in the home and if not turned in when the minimum amount may be gathered from fellow classmates; information through school plus their parents is better than from just one, and last but not least, it was more fun than doing

The disadvantages given by students were: in school there is too much group participation, and it is embarrassing to ask questions; parents shouldn't be reluctant to talk about sex questions; the school shouldn't have to do it; and some felt that it was disadvantage having the program together during the year.

"Our program was basically divided into three parts: the preparation emotionally and physically; the actual instruction; and the discussion with the students after returning from Himsdale," said Barthel.

Both schools discuss also have incubators available and all the grades from kindergarten use them to hatch chicken eggs.

Rumsfeld Announcement on Taking OEO Office Imminent

Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's office in Washington said last Tuesday that an announcement regarding Rumsfeld's move to take the appointment as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity could come at any moment.

Rumsfeld is scheduled to be the principal speaker at a luncheon being given in his honor by the Republican Women of the 13th Congressional District which includes the northwest suburbs.

An announcement of Rumsfeld's acceptance will come from the White House, Rumsfeld's office said.

MEANWHILE, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has not indicated whether he would call a special election to fill a vacancy created by Rumsfeld's resignation. The steps in a special election were held by someone from the 13th District has always been held by someone from the populous eastern end of the district, which includes Evanston, Rumsfeld's home. Skokie, Wilmette, Wheelock, Northbrook and a number of other towns.

Confusing the issue of a successor is the fact that redistricting is scheduled to be done in 1971. It is possible that the shape of the 13th Congressional District will be sharply altered in the redistricting process because of the rapid growth in population in northern Cook County and the northwest suburbs.

More Stores Cite Losses In Credit Spending Spree

Arlington Heights police detectives claim that more than $7,800 in goods and services were charged fraudulently by a Schaumburg woman who was arrested for a three-month shopping spree. Dr. Ronald Van Ruite said he has received complaints from 14 businesses that credit cards were used by Marion Mack, 40, of 102 Springmeadow, Schaumburg, after she allegedly stole them.

Van Ruite said that Sears, Roebuck Co. in Niles, suffered a loss of $2,200 on charges by Mrs. Mack with a charge plate that she allegedly stole from another woman.

The store also said that Mrs. Mack cashed a false $42 check with the driver's license issued to another woman that purchase was made from her arreted last year.

Using a credit card that she reportedly stole from Diane Baker, Mack charged an estimated $1,920 at Montgomery Ward Co., Chicago.

In addition, she was said to have taken a $2,500 Hertz rental car from Elgin, and run up $500 in rental costs, was recovered in Tampa, Fla., this week.

Among the other stores that showed losses from charges on false credit cards were Marshall Field Co. and Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co.

A complaint also was signed against Mrs. Mack for passing bad checks at the Boulevard Gift Shop, 1001 W. 1st St., in Naperville, Ill., and at the Bonanza Supermarket in Hanover Park.

Two clerks at O'Hare Field the claimed losses from checks passed for tickets issued to Mrs. Mack.

Memorial Honors Former Westgate School Teacher

By Richard Lusk

Students and parents have the opportunity this week to visit the impressive memorial in the Westgate School lobby to Donna Pomponio, a former teacher at the school who died last fall in a housing accident in the Philippines.

Miss Pomponio was a teacher at the Westgate School in the 1967-68 year. Her last class members are now enrolled at South Junior High School. They have been visiting the memorial and recalling the impressions she left with them as a friend rather than a teacher.

Nancy Chase said as she looked at the memorial, "I remember most how much she liked her children and how much we liked her."

One of the boys in her last Arlington Heights class recalled Miss Pomponio's interest in major league baseball.

Said Peter Brown, "She was a big baseball fan. The Braves were her favorite team. We used to talk to her because she had a crush on the Braves."

Jeff Peckham recalled, "She went to the ball games and had the autographs of a lot of the big league stars. She took some of me with her."

Mrs. HELEN CUNEO, principal of Westgate School, remembered Donna Pomponio as an outstanding teacher and a good friend.

"She was a really delightful and exceptional teacher," said Mrs. Caneo.

The impressive multi-colored copper sculpture memorial is a wall piece mounted on a black board. The scene depicted is of a rag doll. Special lighting highlights the dramatic effect of the sculpture. The children and teachers who knew Miss Pomponio contributed the funds to purchase the memorial.

Miss Pomponio died a friend went sailing on Monday's funeral home of World War II, near Oct. 27. At her sailing boat passed through a narrow Miss Pomponio apparently did not know a low-hanging electric power line. The metal tip of her boat's sail came in contact with the electric line and both occupants, of the boat were electrocuted.

Miss Pomponio was raised in the Chicago area. She attended St. James Elementary School in Arlington Heights. She was graduated from Marquette University in Milwaukee. She engaged in the Westgate School staff to take a teaching position in the Chicago area. She was a member of the National Education Association and the American Association of University Women.

Policemen Cooling It In Hot Pursuit Class

By Joseph Stenhouse
Northwest suburban motorists as well as near the metropolitan area.

from the intensive one-week course being conducted by the Cook County Police Driving School which dramatizes the dangers of "out-of-control" pursuit.

Amidst the underlining of the risks of using excessive speed in chasing fleeing motorists, the course is making the policemen better and safer drivers, while teaching them not to take risks as well as the rule: a policeman's duty is to protect the public.

According to John J. McClevery, director of the school.

McClevery pointed out that policemen are taught never to become involved in "hot pursuit" because, "There is just no sense in having two maniacs on the road."

Classroom activities are held on Mondays and Fridays in the County Building, Chicago, while behind-the-wheel training is held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Meadowbrook Training Grounds, an auto race track at Carpentersville, 45 miles northwest of Chicago.

The annual automobile race of 500 and more than 1,000 security injured was in the mind of Richard B. Ogilvie, now governor of Illinois, when as cook county sheriff, he helped set up the school, according to the article in the January-February issue of the Journal of American Insurance, a publication of the American Mutual Insurance Alliance in Chicago.

Police officers have familiar with the need for such training while holding those with the need for such training spend much time in training an officer how to handle a gun and even the art of bookkeeping. Ogilvie said "the police are not equipped to give him the training he deserves in the handling of a car in which he spends most of his working day."

The 18 to 20 law enforcement officers who come from various county departments each week to attend the course will result in about 1,000 policemen getting first-hand training at the school each year. However, there are more than 15,000 officers from the local, state and federal, judicial, legislative, executive, and free school, so that it is expected there will be a continuous need for the course, now financed through a $92,992 federal grant matched by county funds.

McClevery said, "What we hope for when our graduates leave is that they will be policemen and that some of them are not the 'whichever' they thought they were."

"In my group of men that come there are always a few we call 'hot dogs' - policemen who think they know all there is to know about driving. And, though we use a race track as training ground, we do not teach them to race drivers. In fact, excessive speed at any point is a bad thing."

"We show them in the classrooms, on the road and through constructive illustration that driving a police vehicle is a dangerous job and that it takes a really good driver to stay out of trouble when an emergency does arise."

'Correspondent' Gets All-American Rating

By Faith Otter

The fantastic Husky spirit has revealed itself again. The Correspondent has joined the winning tradition that has been established at Hersey, said Richard Nelson, editor of the Hersey High School newspaper, after receiving news that the staff had earned an All-American rating.

The rating was awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association, located at the University of Minnesota, after comparison with other papers in Hersey's classification. This was based on enrollment and frequency of publication.

Excitement in all exponents is somewhat abated at Hersey. Nelson continued, "I'm very proud that the newspaper has joined the ranks."

THE AWARD is one of the highest high school journalism ratings and is sought after by top newspapers throughout the country. Other ratings by NSPA included first through fourth class.

"I had preached to the staff from the beginning that the first semester would be basically a learning experience since only one editor had any previous experience on a newspaper staff," said Nelson.

"In fact, I had not told the staff that I was having the paper rated the first semester since I didn't want to disappoint them. The All-American was totally unexpected."

THE STAFF of the All-American "Correspondent" includes Faith Otter, editor-in-chief, 105 W. Hintz Rd.

"I was terribly surprised when I heard about the All-American. Maybe shocked in a speculator's stupor would be more appropriate," said Faith.

"This award can serve as a great challenge to the staff, and I hope it will. It is quite an honor for newspaper, and I'm glad we have been able to do this for Hersey. The problem now will be to maintain the All-American rating," she continued.

"I do not know of any other new school which received an

Rush Hour Parking Curbs

A proposal to eliminate certain parking places during rush hour to ease the traffic in the downtown area is not in conflict with Chamber of Commerce request for more downtown parking. Chamber Executive Manager Harold Bell said today.

The chamber has asked the Village Board to include an 800 coverage gap in the downtown before consideration is given to changing street patterns.

The parking proposal for rush hour traffic was suggested by Dr. Leuw, Cather & Co consulting firm Thursday as an alternative to a new street proposal suggested earlier by the Chicago council.

Consultant Woodward Clyde said the elimination of 70 parking places between about 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., coupled with keeping traffic policemen in the downtown area, might help traffic congestion, eliminate the need for a one-way system.

"This was put forward as a possibility on a trial basis," Bell said. "It's subject to review and will be used only during evening rush hour."

No Room for Gloom

By Catherine O'Donnell

The last time this writer heard about Pauline Mike Sandberg of the Arlington Heights Police Department, he was being released from Evanston Hospital after a long stay.

"You will never be able to walk again without braces," he heard from the doctor last Sunday. It was a devastating blow. Announcement to a young man who stood tall and walked hard at the beginning of being a policeman, until a virus that still is a medical mystery struck him down.

HE KNOWS he has a long way to go, but what he has been able to do on his own is just that of miraculously. He knows he has many friends cheering him on and praying for him.

He has friends like L. Monte English who keeps him posted on what's new at work and friends like police secretary Mrs. Rankin, who must have a first name but he does not know for sure, who still calls him, "Paul" and speaks gently of him.

And above all, he knows he has the finest of people in "his" anything we can do for you?" he asked as we were leaving after a very pleasant visit.

Mike is a proud man as well as a brave one. He found it difficult to say what he wanted. We had just stopped in to say "hello" to Mike so that he would know it wasn't only his friends on the force who were thinking about him. We thought the force who were thinking about him.

Mike will be here in a few days. He said and we waited. We had just stopped in to say "hello" to Mike so that he would know it wasn't only his friends on the force who were thinking about him. We thought the force who were thinking about him.

Women's Club To Present Full Length Opera

The new amateur chorus of the Arlington Heights Women's Club will entertain members and friends when the musical study group presents "Cavalleria Rusticana" 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Arlington High School theatre. The opera will be performed in its entirety and in costume. "Our concerted version of 'Aida' was so enthusiastically received last December that we decided to accommodate husbands, families and friends in a regular dinner seating," said Mrs. William Fricks, chairman of the fine arts music committee. "There is no charge for the performance."

Featured will be Georganna Blair as "Mama Lucia" and Janice Nicholson as "Lola." Also cast in starring roles are

Michael McMahon, tenor, as "Turridu," William Fricks, baritone, as "Alfio" and Jo Fricks as "Sanuzza."

PAUL HENNING, piano music will be Mrs. Betty White and Mrs. Oliver Auer. Mrs. Stephen Jurek will narrate and Mrs. Raymond O'Donnell will act as master of ceremonies.

Chorus members include Mrs. Richard Blair, Mrs. Oscar Cagen, Mrs. Cora Innocentini, Mrs. Ralph Lidge, Mrs. Peter Macdowell, Mrs. Laddie Podaka, Mrs. George Poole, Mrs. Joseph Presson, Mrs. John S. Garman, Mrs. A. W. Vidmar, and Mrs. Donald Walsh.

Refreshments will be served and entertainment may be made by calling Mrs. Fricks at CL 3-6930.

Mrs. Stephen Jurek performs as aria for the Women's Club opera Thursday night at Arlington High School.

Art Festival Salute to 'America'

Countryside Art Center will "salute America" as its spring art festival April 19 and 20 at Pioneer Park Recreation Center, Arlington Heights. Contrasted around the theme "America," 60 well-known area artists will exhibit. A special added attraction will be the oversized cardboard figures of several of this nation's heroes, all constructed by members of Countryside's art workshop.

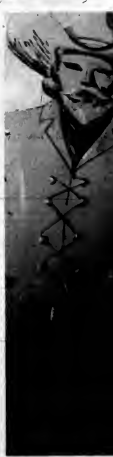

President Washington, Lincoln and Nixon will observe the proceedings from behind cleverly painted faces and an old fashioned popcorn wagon will be piloted by a watchful Buffalo Bill. Mrs. Dorothy Krueh has also created a paper mache Indian to represent the first Americans.

LARGE BANNERS, made by members, will be sold, these depicting important historical events or national points of interest. Another authentic attraction will be the general store provided by Helen and Clarence Hartzell, the proprietors of Butterfield Corners Antique Shop in Elmhurst. Customers will offer homemade candies and cookies and a country atmosphere complete with a genuine crackler barrel.

Other decorations in the show will include a large field map of the United States, green cornstalks, a black meringue pot filled with paper ferns and flowers and red fire crackers, all made by Country members to add early American atmosphere to the show.

Continuing throughout the Festival will be artistic demonstrations by visiting artists. And to that a modern America may be represented too, The Blue Condition, a local teen combo, is scheduled to play on Saturday.

On Sunday, the recreation center will be open from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. Sunday hours are from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Anyone desiring further information may call the Gallery at 555-5055 from 1 to 3 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

Mrs. William Dickinson, dressed in her official business mode, escorts a glass-fronted "Buffalo Bill" around the workshop at Countryside Art Center where visitors' purchases are being put on their spring festival, "America," opening April 19 and 20 at Pioneer Park Recreation Center, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Dickinson's brightly colored dolls as well as the giant figure poster were designed by Countryside members to enhance the Americana theme of the show.

Coke Parties Explain Sororities

"Speaking of Sororities," a series of Coke parties begins Tuesday, April 22 at Fremd High School, will explain sororities, finetune and rush to high school senior girls and their mothers.

Sponsored by the Northbrook Panchelistic Council, the parties will continue throughout April and the first three weeks of May at various high schools in the northwest suburban area. In the past, one afternoon tea was held for all college-bound girls, but this year the Coke parties will be more informal and more accessible since they will be held after school.

At each there will be a short talk on finetune and sorority life and examples of sorority magazine and pin as well as a question and answer session. Winners of the three $200 Panchelistic scholarship will be announced at each party.

MOYFISERS are invited to meet their daughters at the parties. Dates and times are: Fremd High School, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 22; Palatine High School, 3:30 to 4:10 p.m., Wednesday, April 23; the cafeteria, Cogan High School, 3:40 to 4 p.m., Thursday, April 24; Prospect High School, 3:40 to 4:30 p.m., Monday, April 25; in the cafeteria, Barrington High School, 4 p.m., Wednesday, April 30; in the school's theater in the round, and on May 2 at Sacred Heart High School, 11:50 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Three sessions will be conducted on Tuesday, May 6, at Arlington High School from 3:45 to 4:20 p.m. In the cafeteria, Maine East High School, from 3:40 to 4:10 p.m. in the cafeteria with West High School girls being invited to join them there for the session.

Formal View High School will hold their Coke party from 2:50 to 3:10 p.m., Wednesday, May 14 in the school cafeteria and Elk Grove High School from 3:45 to 4:20 p.m., Thursday, May 15 in Room 237 at the school.

Antique Antics Research Groups Make Learning Fun

By Mary Bruce

There suddenly came a day in every collector's life. "How old is it, who made it and is it valuable?" The collector either makes an effort to find out about the article or pretends disinterest in such a mundane thing as a value.

Eventually one must do some research. Belonging to a group or organization interested in the same thing helps make that search for information an interesting and exciting pastime. Not very many will collect items about related things of interest, but there is a sudden coming of age in people and the hardships they endure to help settle our country will be broadened.

During the last six months it has been my privilege to be a guest at the Highland Park Women's Club Collector Study Group. This study group has been meeting for 36 years, and they have a vast knowledge and accumulated available in most libraries.

During the six sessions everything from clocks, English porcelain, German brasses and antique silver and hallmarks was covered by recognized authorities in their field. Although the sessions were informative and interesting, it wasn't until the last session when table setting and related articles to a particular era, sent a thrill or excitement through each collector.

Most of this was expressed by the comment "I didn't know that when the women learned many little pieces of history and how it happened during the time the war was on."

The first group was a setting of primitives used during the last week of our life. There were wooden spoons, bowls carved out of hurl, a rush light which dated from around 1610 and early utensils used over 100 years ago when they were still available.

The primitive article that impressed me was the treacher, a plate for eating out from a slide of wood. It was usually set on its side to dry and become changed as the wood warped or shrunk with the grain of the wood.

The plate was turned over to be used as a tray for the back of the treacher because of the shortage of utensils. Life was very primitive and the days short and full of hard labor. The necessities of life were very meager.

A FINE collection of early marked posters was displayed. Some items were marked 1703. While my mind was bogged down they were the 266 year old, another collector showed us a Canadian and Nanking china. She said Paul Revere was so enchanted with the design of the graceful line bowls that he decided to copy it for his famous Breville bowls.

The plates have a lovely pearl color that has never been duplicated. The designs are often reminiscent because they were made by hand done today by young children. This same problem china was often used as ballast in ships for as long as two or three years.

SOME of the other table settings displayed were historical. Barbara, a Thera Northwest Alumna Club will enjoy using setting at their next meeting, 8 p.m., Thursday, April 17 in the home of Mrs. H. T. Child.

An Importer for Armament's will present the program. Mrs. William Aaron and Mrs. Cooper Roberts will serve as co-hostesses. New Theta alumnae may join the group, Section CL 9-3047, for further information.

discussed and appreciated by people who were wise enough to start collecting and learning years ago when they were still available.

True interest in something stimulates one's memory. It is usually a matter of self education and common sense in the field of antique collecting. By being knowledgeable one won't pass up unexpected opportunity for acquiring a fine item, such as these women displayed.

To encourage real knowledge and research, join or form a group. But, may I suggest, when you meet women such as I did who know so much more, keep your mouth shut and your eyes and ears open. You will be surprised what you can learn.

Last Group To Tour Home

The American Hunter, a local Quakers group, will be the last group of quakers to tour 18th-century Millers, Mrs. Mary, Milburn, III, Mrs. Douglas, which will host the group. The group will be at the Millers house that has recently been sold.

An Importer for Armament's will present the program. Mrs. William Aaron and Mrs. Cooper Roberts will serve as co-hostesses. New Theta alumnae may join the group, Section CL 9-3047, for further information.

18th Century Interior Design Influences Today's Decorating

"Interior decoration at 18th century England was predominantly influenced by Rome, both ancient and contemporary," said Sir John Wedgwood of the famous Wedgwood pottery firm, who was the first to speak on April 11 at the 18th Century interior design symposium at the 18th Century House in London. He is an authority on the design and culture of the 18th century, during which time his father, Josiah Wedgwood, founded the internationally-known pottery firm.

He said that the beginning of the 18th century was a high point for the Whig aristocracy, who thought of themselves as a "new Rome."

The ruling classes began to look back to ancient Rome for inspiration on culture and interior decor. Greatly influenced by such architecture (in these days architects and interior decorators were vintners) in Campbell and Kent, an ornate and splendid style of architecture and decor became popular in England.

This style, known as "Palladian," was based on the vast municipal buildings and Renaissance palaces of Rome, with each room, according to Kent, "a separate work of art."

Palladian style homes displayed curved and fluted woodwork, niched walls with statues, ceilings with relief and paintings and vast marble halls with Roman columns. Many of the rooms had 50-foot ceilings and were double-height, having two doors opposite each other, giving vistas of the other rooms in either direction.

The first floor of a Palladian house was known as the "noble story." To make the impression even more dramatic, the staircases were everywhere and the doorways were vast Roman triumphal arches.

There were several drawbacks to this expensive style. One objection was that, though the large marble chimney pieces were sometimes three stories high, the fireplace beneath them were tiny and inadequate, suitable for Italy's mild climate, but leaving the British aristocrats chilled to the bone. Another criticism was that the Palladian style was basically too ornate and impractical for country living.

Change in style came slowly in the 18th century, but gradually Palladian style homes went out of vogue. Two reasons were the drop in walnut imports from France and the lowering of import duty on mahogany to Britain. From 1720 to 1750, great quantities of mahogany reached England and this had a profound influence on furniture styling.

Walnut had been used as a veneer over less attractive wood, was hard to work and, like mahogany, is subject to worm damage and came in small boards.

On the other hand, mahogany was solid, easily carved, simpler to glaze and came in huge logs. Mahogany could be used for complete tables, large furniture and for separate pieces which could be fitted together.

Another factor in the gradual drift away from Palladian furnishings was the prosperity and calm in England during the middle of the 18th century.

PERSONS HAD more leisure for pleasure pursuits such as needlework, gambling, card playing and reading in their own libraries. Furnishings were needed for these pastimes and a greater variety of furniture became available.

Even the nobles began to improve their furnishings and such items as the Windsor chair became popular.

Architecturally, the first replacement for Palladian was rococo, with frivolous forms such as cupids, rocks, flowers, and an insistence on asymmetry. This style was basically too feminine for masculine Britain, and soon evolved into Chinese rococo.

Chinese rococo, encouraged by increasing trade with China and Kewenau's discovery on the continent, of the process of manufacturing Chinese porcelain, was all the rage until 1765.

The features of this style were imported cloth, porcelains, waterfalls, dragons and lacquer-work. It was used mostly for bedrooms and wardrobes and fine examples still can be seen at Chiswick House, Oxford, where Florence Nightingale spent her last years. Another variation on rococo was the so-called "Gothic Rococo." Sir John Wedgwood pointed out that "the English have a passion for Gothic that keeps coming back to the fore."

He referred humorously to the "hideous rash of Gothic railway stations that broke out as late as the 19th century."

Speaking of the architect Robert Adam, Sir John had high praise for his work. This man revolved against Palladian and its variations and developed the neoclassical style in the late 18th century.

Sir John said "Adam had the foundation for the most cultured type of decoration."

This style has never really gone out of fashion and is still widely used.

Sir John Wedgwood, of the internationally famous pottery firm, chats with some of the 18th century interior design symposium attendees who heard his lecture on "Interior Decoration in the 18th Century" last week. From left: Mrs. Robert Swain, Arlington Heights; Mrs. M.B. McAllister, Arlington Heights; Sir John and Lady Wedgwood; Mrs. John Forman, Des Plaines; and Mrs. Peter Potom, Mount Prospect.

ADAM ENHANCED Kent's idea that each room was an entity, but believed that each room should be different and suitable to its situation.

He used soft pastel colors, bro fluting, no big relief, simple, low overcupping statures, silk damask wallpaper and large fireplaces, suitable for middle-class living.

According to Sir John Wedgwood, Adam mainly was responsible for the most attractive and harmonious effects of neoclassical architecture and decor.

At the close of his lecture, Sir John referred proudly to his ancestor Josiah Wedgwood, who was influenced by Robert Adam.

In 1760 Wedgwood realized that a new style of tableware was needed to go with the neoclassical decor. He began the manufacture of the internationally famous Jasperware, an unglazed, stoneware suitable for the ornamentation and embellishments of the neoclassical style.

This pottery, which soon became a world standard of beauty and excellence, spread the neoclassical influence all over the world.

Sir John closed by saying nostalgically, "The 18th century was a wonderful time to be alive in England and some of the architecture and cultural ideas which flowered then are still a great part of our daily lives."

Spring Thing Lunch

"Spring Thing," the theme of the annual luncheon and fashion show of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, will be held at the church, 801 E. Euclid Street, Monday, April 29.

This year a dining luncheon will be featured with continental serving from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. Appetizers and punch will be served in one room, main dishes and salads in another, with desserts and coffee in a third room.

WSSC members are furnishing their recipes of the foods which will be served so that copies of the recipes be sold at the luncheon.

THE CHAIRMEN plan to have this event at Mrs. Gilbert Yeazel, Mrs. Forrest Ward and Mrs. Jack Ward. Other attractions will be a brief fashion show of styles seen by AEA members and an art and handicrafts exhibit. Chairmen of these events are Mrs. Paul Pease, fashion show; Mrs. Clarence Craig, art exhibit; and Mrs. Robert Robinson, handicrafts.

A nursery for young children will be available. Mrs. Chester Harding, 2294, may be contacted for tickets which are $2 per person.

Art Center Store Opens Saturday In Des Plaines

The seventh Chicago-area store of the Nationwide Art Center will be opened Saturday at 1505 Ellsworth, Des Plaines.

The store will specialize in original oil paintings. According to the manager, William Wanda, most of the artists are under contract to the chain, which has about 50 stores across the nation.

Your House Can Look Beautiful ...

SO CAN YOU!

Attention Out There In Womanhood! At St. Paul's Day last, this reporter caught a Leprechaun and found a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow... right under my nose! Now I'll share it with you. Sound too good to be true? Have faith, it is true! Gather closer, girls, what I tell all. Where can women go to find really individual cosmetic attention and learn what foundation, powder, lipstick, etc. are right for you alone in color and texture? OK... here's the Pot of Gold! If you need instructions on proper makeup and application (and what woman doesn't!) and want to all down and relax while learning, this call or come see Lois Griffitt the very talented cosmetologist at Doretti Pharmacy, 210 W. NW Hwy. Mt. Prospect. And what a luck! I can give you a list of high schools and church groups and, because of her special training in theatrical makeup, she caters to all theatre groups and models. She has studied basic makeup, facial contouring (highlighting and shadowing) under Peter Werninger in Hollywood, has trained cosmeticians, been a cosmetologist all her life. There's no phase of it that she doesn't know! A former model and show biz girl, this girl knows all and tells all. She gives one-on-one individualized instruction and it's yours for the asking at Doretti's. This reporter noted her: "How come, with your background, you're here when you could be anywhere else?" The answer: "I'm tired of moving around, sick of traveling. I've seen everything, been everywhere. Now I want to stay put. Besides, I feel that the average woman needs more help than the ones who can afford expensive cosmetic services. Let's just say that for the first time in my life I'm doing something that makes me feel really good." Said Mrs. Doretti: "She has people coming in from miles around. I'm going to have to install her own personal telephone!" So, girls out there in the wind, if you want to be individually beautiful, better get on the phone or hop in the car to talk to Lois at Doretti Pharmacy. Those of you who are interested in lectures or demonstrations call 259-3880.

Elk Grove Township Real Estate Assessments Up

Spurred by the current building boom, real estate assessments in Elk Grove Township increased 11.7 per cent last year over the previous year.

Cook County Assessor P. J. Culleton in revealing the increase yesterday said that the township assessment for 1988 stood at $306,565,899, compared with $179,401,536 for 1987.

"The northwest townships led the county in percentage of real estate," he said, "with Elk Grove Township showing the largest percentage increase in real estate assessments because of the activity."

He said that assessments for both Chicago and suburban per cent to a new high of $107,754,277.73 for 1988. This represents, he said, an increase of $207,578,732 over the previous year's evaluation of real estate, which amounted to $104,043,949.04.

Culleton's report showed that the assessment of build- ings for the city and county in- creased $218,081,006 to a 1988 total of $8,232,118,647. The assessment of land in- creased $69,497,732 to a 1988 total of $2,535,809,125.

REPLACING a con- structed high level of com- mercial, most of the assess-menting. Culleton said that occurred in the suburban area, particularly in the northwest townships of the county.

For suburban Cook County, real estate assessments, Culleton said, have increased 4.72 per cent to a new high of $4,737,251,075 for 1988. This total is $213,038,743 higher than the 1987 real estate assessment total.

The assessment of build- ings in the suburban area in- creased $169,688,828 to a 1988 total of $5,659,835,796. The land assessment total in- creased $43,349,915 to a 1988 total of $1,065,415,278.

Assessor Culleton al- so noted the increase amount- ing to $189,688,828 in the assessment of buildings in the suburban area to new in- dustrial, apartment and com- mercial construction.

The assessment increase of $43,349,915 for land in the suburban area, Culleton said, resulted primarily from the revaluation of land that was converted to higher economic use by being utilized as sites for the new construction.

Cook County, which covers about 556 square miles, now has about 1,285,000 parcels of real estate, of which 610,000 parcels are within Chicago and 655,500 parcels are in the suburban townships.

MISS PAM Burkhardt of 528 S. Kensington, a widow at Arlington High, and Denise Sargent of 1770 Lee Ct., Palatine, a student at Fremd High, have been selected as two new Wendy Ward Participants.

'The Bleep' Starts Career At Evanston Theatre 65

Theatre 65, the children's theatre of Evanston, will present "The Bleep," Alan Culleton's comic science fiction story for grades three and up, on April 19 and 26 at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at Chase Junior High School, 1400 Oakton, Evanston. A special Family Night performance will be given at the same location on Friday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. For junior high school students and other interested adults. Admission is $1.

For further information, call the theatre office, 866-4496.

Folk Music

"The World of Folk Music" was recently by the students of St. Patrick's Academy and has been attending the Ham- bold Institute in Minneapolis. The program was presented by Shirley and Luis Rodriguez.

Miss Gery M. Dyrjanski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Dyrjanski, 713 N. Wilco, Mount Prospect, has been placed with Western Lakeside, Minneapolis, Minn. Miss Dyrjanski is a graduate of St. Patrick's Academy and has been attending the Ham- bold Institute in Minneapolis, a school which specializes in travel and traffic careers.

Horoscope

FOR THE WEEK

ARIES (March 23-April 19)—Keep relationships with members of the opposite sex on a platonic basis for a time being. Romance could well get out of hand.

Taurus (April 21-May 21)—Professional advice is in order if you are planning to strike out on your own. Ambition and motivation are not enough.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Small ambitions can easily be fulfilled at this time. The Gemini who attempts to accomplish larger things may be thwarted.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Solve problems on the home front without further delay. Employment matters may have to go by the board.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Let your actions be dictated by what you presently know about the situation. Do nothing on the basis of rumor.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—You can complete more than one project today if you go about it methodically. Take things in order of importance to your career.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—You should have better-than-average success in your dealings with co-workers today—if you take feelings into account.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Settle family quarrels in a peaceable manner; otherwise, you will only make things worse. Reason with children.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—Avoid argumentative co-workers. Go about your own business as quietly as possible and you should be able to conquer them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Increase your efficiency using New methods applied to old chores; add a new dimension to your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—You could be the recipient of more than prize today. Material gains in the offing for the Aquarius who acts according to plan.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Those in high places should recognize your ability today. Make yourself available should you be called to a meeting.

We're moving quarters

...and saving you dollars!

We've made some big, bold moves on Main Street but this one is the last one and the biggest and boldest yet. We speak, of course, of the bold attack on Buick price tags during this all-out move-out sale! Yes folks, John Mufich Buick is preparing to move to Rand Road and Henry and everything in stock is on the block with orders to move at the drop of an offer! Yes folks, everything at our old location slashed in price for quick-sale-to the public! So, if you hanker for the BIG, BOLD and BEAUTIFUL BETTER get a move on to John Mufich and buy Buick too!

Firemen Probe Problems, Aspirations of Careers

Problems and aspirations of the fireman received a thorough study yesterday by the second annual fireman's seminar at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines.

Nearly 100 persons from most north and northwest suburbs attended the all-day seminar.

Featured was a panel discussion of "The fireman and the establishment," with four firemen and three municipal officials taking part under the direction of Dr. Homer Roth.

Dr. Roth, vice chairman of the hospital's staff, also spoke on "The Fireman's Image."

Morning and afternoon workshops were held on subjects taken up by the panel.

Members of the panel were L. Dave Wolf of the Des Plaines Fire Department; Fireman Edward Fitch of Arlington Heights; Lt. Carl Fox of Niles; Fireman William Abrenfield of Park Ridge; Mayor Albert J. Smith of Skokie; Village Manager L.

A. Hanson of Arlington Heights and sensory A. A. Weinberg.

Among the workshop leaders were Lt. Richard Arthur and David Clark of the Des Plaines Fire Department, and Lt. John Hyden of the Arlington Heights department.

The education needed to become a professional fireman was a lively topic of discussion among the participants.

L. Wolf said that many firefighters offer to pay new employees while they undergo training and suggested that municipalities consider this for new firemen.

Smith stressed the need for technical proficiency and said firemen do not need a college degree, "which perhaps would only be required of top officers."

L. Fox cited a Harper College course for firefighters which draws far more applicants than could be accepted. He said he was willing to stand on his own time two

Monday nights, but could not get time off the third Monday night, when it was his turn to be on duty.

Another panelist said Northwestern University has had a course for policemen for several years, but nothing similar is offered for firemen.

Other "panel" participants discussed ways to make the unique hours of duty and their effect on home life and the lack of opportunity for firemen to improve their careers by moving to other departments without forfeiting seniority, particularly in pay scales.

Hanson suggested that careers be made about only by pressure through fireman's associations.

He said it is important to realize that young people can take over important responsibilities.

Chris Kelly, 19, of 874 Stevens, Des Plaines, said she doesn't think Moen will have much of a voice on the board, but at least it's a start.

Adding a student to the board is a "good move" according to Michael Dawson, 19, of 493 Linn, Elk Grove Village. He can authentically relate student problems to the board and the board will pay attention to him because he is different from the other members, Dawson said.

"I feel my presence brings a new life to the governing and to the administration of the school," he said.

But Mr. Dawson of Hoffman Estates, a former Student Senate officer, was a young man with a different approach. He cited equity as the biggest problem in the school and its community.

"Imagine having only three candidates for a school board election," said Baylin.

"Men who are serving on the Harper board are the 'top of the crop' said Baylin. "I'm a community college. It is the voice of the community. It's fine to have a young voice."

Looking ahead, Dawson said Moen will prove that the youth of America isn't going to the dogs. A fellow senate member, Laurie West, of 1507 E. Thayer, Mount Prospect, predicted that Moen will go overboard to prove himself as a trustee.

"He's a go-getter; he's proved it in his campaign. He might even bridge the generation gap between Miss West. 'He's not a sheep. Larry follows what he believes.'"

Day Light

By Joseph Rosenmeyer
 The current installment in the long, drawn out battle for bingo, Bingo Bucks, Rights, is the big bingo question. Or, if you prefer a neop open treatment, you can call SIDE GLANCES.

"It's our company equivalent of the Purple Heart. I was wounded fighting jobs to graduate on college campuses."

ANTI-BINGO battles claim it will be knocked down by the Senate. It has also been pointed out by some legislators that it is not permitted by the present state constitution. (Can-Can might lead to changes, of course.) On top of that, there's always the chance of a veto by Governor Ogilvie.

As it stands now, the measure stipulates bingo can be sponsored by churches and other non-profit services or charitable organizations, with provisions that church groups or civic groups must have been in existence for five years, and must obtain a license for proper operation.

Foes of legalized bingo refer to the untold experience of New York State where approximately only 15 percent of the gross receipts ultimately wound up in the hands of charities, widows and shady characters grabbing the lion's share of more than $5 million in receipts in 40 operations that came under study by New York State investigators.

Bingo Bucks the Odds

RIGHT NOW, if ever, there exists a climate more favorable to legalizing bingo than has hitherto been known in Illinois.

For one, with state officials thumping the bottom of the financial barrel in a desperate search for funds, it seems to be actually tapping a new revenue source.

Best of all, this revenue would not need to be in up-and-coming industries, but to supplement it. The current measure provides that 5 percent of all proceeds goes to the state for support of common schools, and 5 percent into the state's mental health fund.

COMING AT A time when the state is considering possible aid to prevent parochial schools from closing some of the schools, the bingo legislation makes a strong appeal to many taxpayers, whose religious affiliations apparently create no doubts as to whether bingo is a gateway, a game of chance or outright gambling.

After all, many are reasonable—consider—when the legislators so often take a righteous attitude about bingo, yet are personally quick ready to get a bet down on the legalized racetrack footwork of the ponies.

This understandably confuses the taxpayer who wonders why he is not legally permitted to play the socially acceptable game of bingo for quite small stakes, and for a charitable or useful cause at this.

IT WILL be interesting to see which way the bingo ball bounces.

If the voice of the bingo number caller is again heard in the land, who knows?—it may help bridge the gap between the groups of legislators screaming around for more revenue as well as the misery of those of us who are required to provide it.

"Just how would you define 'appropriate response'?"

Committee to Review MSD Permit Procedure

The Blue Ribbon Committee of the Metropolitan Sanitary District held its first meeting yesterday.

The meeting was centered on reviewing the permit procedure and trying to define problems, such as non-representative complaints being made, according to MSD Supt. Vinson Bacon.

"When we get going, we will make precise recommendations on sewer permit procedures," Bacon said.

The committee consists of representatives of 115 municipalities and 20 smaller sanitary districts in unincorporated areas within the Metropolitan Sanitary District, Bacon said.

DOCTOR SAYS

Control of Tensions Takes Time, Patience

One cannot learn to control one's tensions overnight. Some people will need professional guidance in the process. For a while, perseverance can free you from dependence on sedatives or drugs to help you calm.

When you have learned to recognize the sensation of muscular contraction in every part of your body and how to relax your muscles, your mind, your body, and your emotions, you will find that it is impossible to do this without feeling tension in your eye muscles and possibly your diaphragm as well. As you relax your eye muscles, your mental picture will fade. Now think of a song you like and notice the tension in your vocal and hearing muscles. Relax these muscles and you will get the impression that someone is turning down the volume on your hearing set.

When you have learned to eliminate all thoughts of sights, sounds, odors, tastes or feelings, you will experience a subsiding of anxiety. This is because your anxiety always linked with a visualization of what has happened and what is likely to happen, what was said and is likely to be said or a pain that is felt or anticipated.

Tension control is important not only for the relief of sleeplessness, tension headaches and other ills but also as a means of preventing these diseases known to depend on uncontrolled emotions and chronic nervousness.

Q—A recent column you recommended managing the hands with Polysorb Hydrate Cream. Lotion to ward off attacks of Raynaud's disease. A pharmacist has never heard of it. How can I get it?

A—Although this item is relatively new, it is now available without a prescription. If your pharmacist doesn't have it in stock, he can order it for you.

Q—I am using eye drops four times a day for glaucoma. Could they cause me to be nauseated and have no appetite?

A—Echinopside iodide eye drops and prostaglin eye drops may do this. Pilocarpine eye drops are much less likely to.

Q—What are the side effects of beauty?

A—They include dizziness, dizziness, tremors, palpitation of the heart, dry mouth and blurred vision.

Q—How is a yeast or monist infection acquired? What is the best treatment?

A—The cause of monist infection, a fungus called Candida albicans, is commonly found on the mucous membranes of normal persons. It usually causes trouble only in persons who are generally run-down or who have taken certain antibiotics that suppress the other organisms that normally inhibit the mucous membranes. The Candida albicans may then be able to grow with utter gay abandon. Individual susceptibility is that more of a factor in infection with this fungus than those personal contrivances.

Q—Several antibiotics are effective against this fungus. These include nystatin, amphotericin B, fluconazole and candidazole. Some are supplied on prescription as a cream, others as oral tablets and some as lozenges.

Q—My son, 31, has candidomycosis. What are the symptoms? Is there any cure for it?

A—This disease is caused by inhaling the spores of the mold, Candida albicans. Most victims recover and have a lasting immunity to the disease. However, if the temperature may reach 104. There is usually some pain in the chest and generalized itching. With good nursing care many recover without the use of any drugs but, if treatment is necessary, most of them can be treated with the antibiotic, amphotericin B.

Q—It is possible to get arthritis from a blood transfusion.

A—Arthritic diseases, yes; arthritis, no.

This Week's Better Market Values

It's a sophisticated market, with more variety, continental tastes of color, special labels, computer-measured sizes. All these can apparently reduce customers to sample increased prices of as much as 12 to 20 cents a pound, if the labels survived in numberless stores this week are right. Even some common cuts cost more. Generally, blade cut pork roasts are common market priced at 69 cents, and, not too long ago, 59 cents. Boneless rolled roasts featured recently at 89 cents are now promoted at 99 cents. Regular price labels have moved up to $1.09 to $1.19 in many volume outlets. Loin portion pork roasts have moved up to a general quote of 75 cents, 6 cents more than a month ago. The same is true for sliced pork loin in some major retail outlets. Few have seen to many ways to eat a fryer - but continue to be promoted at 29 cents whole, 33 cents cut up and generally 39 cents to 45 cents. There are reasons, of course. Cattle cost more. Prices have advanced to 39 cents a pound over this time a year ago. Beef cost remains an average of two cents per pound more than last week. Pork is higher, too. Hogs priced nearly 16 cents more now than at this time last year.

Fryers are higher than a year ago, too. Some trade sources wonder why poultry-pounded losses were quoted for this week.

Chicago-area Food Values
Meats: beef rump and rosinerie roasts, round and sirloin steaks, ground beef, beef ribs, roasts, boned and blade cut pork roasts, corned beef, pork chops, bacon.

Sing Out SET For Saturday

By LOUI ADAMS

Sing-Out Palestine, a group of Northwest Suburban youths, work together to inspire and motivate people. A branch of the world-wide "Up With People" movement, the suburban youths are trying to create good will among people in their own community.

"Our purpose is simple, yet complicated," said Gary Giesler, 1526 N. Chestnut Ave., Arlington Heights, president of the club. "We're trying to create inside each person a better understanding of others as persons."

The group consists of about 100 youths who feel the good in the world isn't weighed too bad. They range from high school freshmen to 26-year-old young adults.

SING-OUT Palestine was established in March of 1967 by youngsters who believed in the movement created by the national "Up With People" organization, which travels throughout the country, singing at high schools, colleges and other organizations.

"They're trying to establish a positive voice and commitment to tackle together the crucial issues of the day."

"Through the songs we sing we're trying to demonstrate to the people that there is much good around the world, if they only look for it," said Giesler.

THE SONGS that are sung by the group are those that have been sung nationally by "Up With People." A few of them are "What Color Is God's Skin," "Up With People," and "Shoutout."

"We learned a lot since I joined Sing-Out Palestine," said Giesler. "I think the group has given me a better outlook on people in general."

THE GROUP is financed through donations made by residents of the community and organizations that request the group to entertain them.

"We're in the process of organizing a fund raising project by selling fire extinguishers in the community," said Giesler. "We need a lot of help so that we're able to buy the musical equipment we need."

The group is scheduled to appear at St. Victor High School April 18 at 8 p.m. and April 20 at 8 p.m.

Sing-Out Palestine students practice at the American Legion Hall for their April 18 and 20 shows at St. Victor High School. Members are: Mary Weber, 19 N. Ashland; Margaret Engen, 1317 Sandborn; Palestine Mike Reed, 774 Bayler Dr.; Palestine; Matt Draughon, 787 N. Highland; Arlington Heights Sue Beckman, 297 Kent; Hoffman Estates Todd Minko, 806 S. Maple Dr.

Two Duels... Two Deaths

Boy and A Man
Killed in Duels
On Same Spot
Years Apart

By John A. Hurst

One man faces another. He holds a pair of gloves. Then, he takes one glove in his right hand. He slaps the other man on the left cheek with it. A duel is born. He will fight for his honor! He says, "You may choose your weapons, sir."

Today, of course, a duel is outside the law. But when this story happened, during was legal.

This is a strange tale. Not one, but two men, meet their deaths. One, you know. One you don't! Both men died on the same spot! One died in 1804. The other died in 1904.

IT IS spring in the year 1804. Dawn lightens a lonely field in New Jersey. The sky is touched with pink. Birds are singing. The grass is wet with dew. Only a single pine tree stands in the field.

Beneath the elm walks a young man. He is very young. In fact, he's hardly more than a boy.

He stops. His head turns. Hurst's horse pounces down the road. A group of men ride up. One is the man he will duel. One is a doctor. And the others are the spectators.

PISTOLS ARE the weapons chosen. The men stand back to back. On a signal, each man walks ten paces forward. Then, the two turn and face each other. Their looks are grim. Sweat shows on the young man's forehead. The gun is steady in his hand.

The signal to fire is given! Two shots ring out! Pain shows in the boy's face. He staggers back. A dark man spreads on his coat. The gun drops from his hand. First, he falls to his knees. Then he goes down in a heap!

The doctor runs to him. He kneels beside the boy. The others move closer. The doctor looks up. He says, "Your honor has been avenged. The young man is dead!"

THREE YEARS pass. One more, it is dawn. It is July 11, 1804. The lonely site now still stands in the field. A small group of men stand under it.

A single, two men face each other. It is the same field of honor. They stand 20 paces apart. Each one holds a pistol. Coldly, they stare at each other. They are old and bitter enemies. At last, they will settle their long-time feud.

John A. Hurst is the author of the "and hereby hangs the tale" series of mystery books. The DAY column is an anthology of materials "Great People—Makers of Great Country" taken from this series. In addition, he has worked in process on a Social Studies textbook for new-schoolers to be published by Scott, Foresman & Co. and a new series to be entitled, "...and to the story goes..."

On signal... they fire! Their shots ring out as one. Two puffs of smoke float up into the air. One man falls! A wicked grin crosses the face of the other! He turns on his heel. Calmly, he walks to his horse. In one leap, he is mounted. He rides away without once looking back.

THE DOCTOR runs to the fallen man. He picks up the man's wrist. Turning to the others, he says, "He lives. But I'm afraid there's no hope. He will die within a few hours!"

Gently, the men pick up their friend. They carry him to a nearby house. His wife is sent for. No more can be done. By the next day—one of the great men of this country is dead!

...AND SO the story goes... of not one—but two men. Both men fought duels with pistols. Both were killed on the same spot! One was a man. The other was a man nearly fifty years old.

Few people know of that first duel. But the second does is a part of history! The man who met his death... is famous. He was one of the founders of our country. He was the first Secretary of the Treasury. He started our national bank. The man who killed him is well known, too. He was the hated Aaron Burr. And... the man who died? Well... perhaps you already know he was the great Alexander Hamilton!

But what of that first duel? The duel fought on the same spot? Why is this a part of our story? Well... the boy who was killed in that first duel... was Philip Hamilton. Sadly enough, he was Hamilton's oldest son! (From Hurst's copyright © 1969-1970)

St. Pat Juniors Enjoy Their Magic Moment

By Kathy McLaughry

St. Patrick's junior regaled supremes at the Elmhurst Country Club last Friday, as "This Magic Moment" blossomed into reality. Daisies adorned the room as the girls and their husbands danced to the music of The Legends. Although the girls were given an option, most chose to dress formally, as this was the academy's last and best night at 8:30.

A "NAME-the-dance" contest, prior to the dance, provided Mary Ellen Cherry, 112 Park Lane, Hoffman Estates, with a free bid for submitting the chosen name. Leva "fortuitous" girls had to purchase their bids for $7 in their home rooms.

Sister Mary Donna, R.S.M., took charge of the dance preparations, with the assistance of the junior class officers: president, Mary Ann Durkin, 1517 N. Hoffman, Park Ridge; vice president, Judy Henck, 888 W. Fargo, Chicago; treasurer, Annette Huenning, 270 Woodland, Mount Prospect; and secretary, Mary Schmidt, 163 Durkin, Des Plaines.

Rather than dividing into committees, the officers decided to make this final SPA junior project a joint effort, and thus, all worked together to make the dance a success.

THE SCHOONER, co-sponsored with the girls in making their dance more enjoyable by allowing the formal attire and demonstrating the entire junior class an hour-and-a-half early.

Many of the juniors extended their "reign" throughout the following weekend as they enjoyed a day with their dates at such spots as Zion State Park and the Sand Dunes.

Yet no matter how long the girls' "reign" lasted, it is certain that their memories of their junior dance will only be equalled by those of the senior prom to be enjoyed next year.

Collages by Kathy are featured during April in the Art Corner of the Plaines National Bank. The artist, Kathy Varian of Palms Park, shows one of her smaller works, plus the large piece entitled "St. Pat's." Kathy Varian is a specialist in collages, winning numerous awards. Her work is done on wood, overlaid with paper cuttings, paints and ink.

After the Election

By Catherine O'Donnell

Though the election in Mount Prospect should not have too much interest for Arlington Heights, there are a couple of stories that bear notice. For instance, the Chicago Daily News, in a 17-line write-up, intimated the famed hermit of the Chicago Heights, who reportedly that Gov. George Thompson had been elected president when he talked the matter down. Harry Truman.

In the first edition of the News yesterday, it was reported that Dan Congreve had won "by a slim margin." It immediately was corrected. Robert Taft won the election.

Wan of Arlington Heights Post 981 will travel to the Downey Veterans Hospital Friday night with a full supply of items that they know the hospitalized men need and want.

They will take with them 30 pairs of shoes, 100 pairs of socks, 100 pairs of pajamas and a large collection of paperback books.

The men of the post have been gathering the gifts for a long time. They visit their former comrades regularly. The chairman in charge is Joe Aynsley who is aided mightily by his wife, Blanche.

Before the journey to Downey, the usual Friday Fish Fry will be served at the Post on Northwest Hwy.

vention, Arlington Police Lt. Irvin MacDougall who is vice-president of the league, said that the donation does not mean that the police favor beating anyone, but that this was the last time the police can set a precedent. The police fear that the policemen will become a police force who were afraid to treat any injured person because they were "in the line of duty" until the policeman had been charged.

As a consequence, Lt. MacDougall said that the police will be forced to avoid getting involved. We feel that police will be afraid to even exercise the necessary force that is sometimes necessary to make an arrest because they could be charged.

INVITATION
The chorus of the Arlington Heights Women's Club would like anyone to come to the Bristle Throat tonight at 8 p.m. to hear the one-act opera, "Cavallera Rustica."

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. J. J. MacDougall, has been in rehearsal since their Christmas presentation of excerpts from "Aida."

Dear Mrs. Cullen:
When Bruce becomes excited and talks rapidly, he says things that are not true. I have noticed that when he is in a hurry, he says things that are not true. I have noticed that when he is in a hurry, he says things that are not true.

When I know that a certain exercise is right to use, then I can add it to it and follow through at home. Thank you, again.

—Mrs. K. C. T. Mount Prospect
DEAR MRS. K.C.T.:
I am glad that you have been able to encourage when mothers take my class and change upon them at home, since the column is a continuation of exercises from "Aida."

Perhaps this drill will help. The exercises are simple, but Bruce will have to take a little time and the right word, and will be, shall we say, somewhat slow in his progress. It is certainly, to do that, he will have to look at it carefully.

You will need patience, but you are very very to correct shirred endings. Many adults are giddy, and such carelessness is inexcusable.

White and Black
Meet at Hershey

Blacks met Whites yesterday in a "positive confrontation" at Hershey, Pa., when 30 Chicago Negro students traveled to Hershey High School in Arlington Heights to experience a typical day at a suburban school.

The black students, 10 girls and 20 boys, housed by 30 Hershey high students as part of a suburban-study city exchange program, attended several class sessions. The school's school board, which participated in an afternoon seminar.

ALEX SCHMIDT, director of Hershey's social science program, said, "Hershey students took the initiative about a month ago to arrange the exchange day after they felt about white acceptance of them."

"Yesterday's seminar between black and white students was particularly helpful," Schmidt said.

"It was a positive confrontation, an open session, in which the students said what they wanted to say."

The black students, described by Schmidt as "upper and middle class Negroes from Chicago's south side who definitely are not from a ghetto area," were accompanied by Charles Mingo, coordinator of the human relations program at Herford.

HARLAN is 98 per cent black, Schmidt said. "Hershey high school students, 208 Negroes, are 98 per cent white," he said. "Prospect Heights, near Summit up the Hershey impression of the exchange day."

"I gave the white students an opportunity to see what Negroes have to put up with. They feel about white acceptance of them."

Maj. Moseley
Decorated for Vietnam Service

The son of an Arlington Heights woman has been awarded the Bronze Star for outstanding service as an Army medical officer in Vietnam.

Maj. Roger V. Moseley, son of Mrs. Doris G. Moseley, 809 E. Minor, was cited for "his rapid assessment and solution of numerous problems inherent in a combat environment."

Moseley, who served in Vietnam from January to July, 1968, is now assigned to the Department of Respiratory Therapy, Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, Washington, D.C.

Moseley and his wife, Caroline, and their four children live in Chevy Chase, Md.

The major's mother is librarian of South Junior High School in Arlington Heights.

Three Men Charged For Murder Attempt

By Gary Shiffman

The suspect in the Arlington Heights murder was one of three persons charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery last night after a shooting spree in a Des Plaines tavern. Two other men were injured in the volley of gun fire. The three men were captured by Wheatridge police officers after they fled from Kelly's Tavern, 601 Rand, Des Plaines, where the shooting took place.

Thieves Take Welding Gear

More than $320 worth of welding equipment was reported stolen yesterday from the site of an unfinished addition to St. James Church at Frederick and First Streets in Arlington Heights. Police said that 250 feet of welding cable and electric leads and clamps were taken.

The suspect was identified as Jose Perez, 29, of 3326 Schoenbeck, Arlington Heights; Jean R. Sanchez, 26, of Libbardsville, Arlington Heights, 23, both of Chicago.

The victims, Benedict Chino, 25, of Elmwood Park, and James P. Wheeler, 24, of Madison, Wis., were injured in last condition today at Holy Family Hospital following emergency surgery in which two bullets were removed from Chino and one from Wheeler.

BES PLAINES detectives said the shooting apparently evolved from a dispute over a billiard table in the tavern. They are the detectives involved in the events surrounding the shooting and arrest of Chino and Wheeler were playing pool shortly before a pin when they were approached by the three men who asked to use the billiard table. Words were exchanged when Chino and Wheeler refused to surrender the table. The victim accepted the challenge of the three men to settle the argument in the parking lot outside the tavern. The argument turned into a scuffle in the lot and Sanchez produced a gun, which he handed to Gutierrez. Gutierrez attempted to fire the gun at Chino and Wheeler, but the weapon mis-fired.

HIE, W 11 AM, ran back into the tavern still in the employ to phone the police, but the men would not let him go to make the call. Sanchez and Perez returned.

A dozen patrons and employees downed on the floor as Gutierrez fired a volley of shots from the automatic pistol. Chino was struck by two bullets and Wheeler was hit by one. An unidentified woman fainted during the gunplay.

It is suspected that a customer copied their names on a newspaper and noted a description of the police raid.

THE INFORMATION was broadcast over the police radio network and moments later, Wheatridge patrolman Al Hochstetler spotted the auto raceway then on Wolf Street near the intersection of Higgins and Hertz.

help and followed the car to a home in the 200 block of 41st in Wheeling. Hochstetler, joined by patrolmen James K. Koring and Thomas J. Davis, took the men into custody and returned them to their homes. They did not offer resistance.

The suspect, Perez, was charged with attempted murder and two counts of aggravated battery. Sanchez and Gutierrez each were charged with attempted murder and two counts of aggravated battery. They were taken to the Wheatridge police station where they were picked up by Des Plaines police.

U.S. Official Encourages Woods on Garage Funds

By Barry Petersen

Arlington Heights was encouraged to apply for federal funding to build an underground parking garage by Department of Transportation (DOT) officials yesterday.

Mayor John Woods, who met with DOT program coordinator Francis Gimmer in Washington, said Gimmer indicated to him during a three-hour informal meeting that the federal government would likely qualify under the Urban Mass Transit Act of 1964.

THE VILLAGE is considering the construction of a federally funded commuter garage south of the Chicago & North Western Ry. tracks and behind the municipal building.

Elected Officials Do Homework While Waiting to Take Office

By Barry Petersen

Although they were officially take office until next Tuesday, the village officials are doing their homework and preparing for their respective duties of duty. Tuesday night, present tentative plan call for outgoing Mayor John Woods to swear in Mayor-elect John Walsh, Trustee-elect Dwight Walton and William Ginner, incumbent Trustee Francis Palmerstein elected for one term, and clerk-elect Mrs. Betty Revard.

BOTH WALTON and Ginner, who will be new to the board, have been sitting in on board meetings since their election, and Walton has been doing so for several weeks. "I think there's really a great outlook that you may develop to be an effective trustee," Walton said. "It's nothing you can prepare for, but there's no course of study or anything that will automatically make you a good trustee."

Walton and Ginner have been placed on the board's mailing list and are receiving all of the documents the board members normally receive concerning upcoming board business.

Sitting in the audience, Walton said watching the board get on various topics also allows him to "mentally take note on what my presentation will be on any given point."

"YOU HAVE a chance to make a presentation on any point without having to vote," Walton said. "It's not a matter of being a trustee, it's a matter of being a citizen. There's no course of study or anything that will automatically make you a good trustee."

District 23 to Try Referendum Again

The Prospect Heights School District 23 board has unanimously voted to hold a referendum June 28 on a 21-cent increase in the education fund tax rate, the same issue that narrowly failed in last year's election.

The new referendum will get the support of the citizens' committee formed before the last referendum to let the proposal to the public.

TRUCK DRIVER Ticked off. A Chicago man driving a truck through Arlington Heights yesterday was ticked off for littering when a man in the rear of his truck was observed throwing batteries onto the street by policeman Edward Kory.

The man in the rear of the truck, Boardwalk Blasters of Chicago, reportedly said he was throwing the batteries because he was mad at his boss.

Both the driver of the truck, John McClellan, of Chicago, and the owner of the truck, Charles Kaylor, of Chicago, who was a passenger, said they didn't know their boss was throwing the batteries from the truck.

THE COMMITTEE spent many hours making out flyers and contacting residents, only to see the issue fail of approval by 523 to 474 votes. In N. Park, 206 N. La. Prospect Heights, the committee chairman, said, "I feel the same as I did about our other referendum. We have no choice but to keep trying until we get it passed."

He analyzed possible reasons why the 21 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase failed on April 12.

PREFACING his remarks by saying, "It's a tough one to answer," Purcell said the increase was better because of the large vote, and many "yes" voters didn't get into the vote polling place at Sullivan School.

Purcell explained his reasons were usually these persons who no longer have children in district schools.

He said that many of the voters with young children who were potential "yes" voters couldn't get into the vote polling place at Sullivan School for the four and one-half hours the vote was necessary "toward the end."

District 23 lies wholly within District 214, and Purcell said that less than a majority of voters from the District 23 area approved the District 214 issue.

The citizens' committee met with representatives of Citizens for Better Schools Wednesday night, Purcell said.

He said that the groups interested agreed to make a survey and find out if a subdivision voted "yes" or "no."

PURCELL ADDED that the school board has already agreed to have more judges at the polling place the "next time around" to speed up the voting process.

Whether there will be more polling places has not yet been decided. Purcell said that the plan of the citizens' committee for holding the next referendum will be formulated within the next 30 days.

Purcell wrote a letter to The Day entitled "The Lottery," in which he expressed his feelings at the defeat of the tax increase. He said that the referendum "The Lottery" was a "disaster."

"LAST SATURDAY, April 12, the citizens' committee for the referendum requesting help. When the vote was taken, the committee made public one citizen who apparently had voted 'no' called out to his vote. You lost And I lost."

This group-pictured Holmes Junior High School Aviation Club plane ride might not get off the ground unless either, if weather predictions of rain prove accurate. Five weeks ago, the photographer Hal Wambach got the assignment to go flying at Palmdale with teacher George Mangil (above) and his youngsters. Wambach took this photo when they were in the air because wrong kind of oil kept plane on the ground. Every Thursday since then. It rained, snowed or been cloudy, except for last week's spring vacation.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area singers in the Community Chorus deserve all kinds of cheer-up, and audience support, we think.

The leading lady took in on her first day in the new direction of Merle Moore, a graduate student at Trinity College.

The recording secretary, Linda Boyd, says the scheduled performance date is May 23. She and President Allan Carlson say the group is looking for all voices in the area interested in taking part in this master work performance. Come along to rehearsals, Tuesday evenings at 8 in Jack London Junior High, in their vicinity, in any key.

The WHEELING-Prospect Heights-Buffalo Grove Nurses Club will have their own girl graduate this spring, they are pleased to state, and no dropouts so far.

Judy Parrish of Wheeling was their first post-graduate nursing student, and the graduates from Rockford

Memorial Hospital. All five of their girls have kept up with their studies in various nursing schools. Scholarship Chairman Jean Bauer says. The club hopes to hold another summer session.

Last Monday was the success of last year's at the Stevens farm, which brought in enough money for these scholarships.

JEAN AND Club President Jean-Volk, most potential young women in while will be alerted to "nurse" booth on Career Day at the high school Tuesday, April 22. Those wishing to compete for the nursing scholarships may procure applications from Miss Gallagher at the school by May 1.

Nurses in the vicinity as yet unfamiliar with the club are most welcome, the ladies say, to join the group, which meets the fourth Wednesday of each month at 7:30 in Jack London Library. Members, who are both presently working and not, have either talks in their field, as well as having fun time. Just days something for everyone from the nurse-to avail yourself of the "Nurse's Club" service, you may call Mrs. Volk to have the book of crutches, wheel chair, or other patient needs, free of charge.

The bizarre, the odd, the unusual, the outright unbelievable are all found in Chicago Old Town's new attraction, Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum.

Located at 1500 N. Wells, the intriguing museum is the only one of its kind in the mid-west. It contains thousands of authentic items from the private collection of famed caricaturist and world traveler Robert L. Ripley.

Both artists and people of the world created from the original Ripley drawings are on display.

The museum and its collection are valued at over 1.5 million dollars. Many of the items are one-of-a-kind curios and precious antiques being unrivaled for the first time anywhere in the world.

CHICAGO'S Richard Guard devoted an estimated 315 leisure hours to the building of an accurately scaled, perfectly balanced reproduction of the Great Firms Wheel invented for Chicago's Columbian Exposition of 1893. The feat required 25 tons of cement and 14,000 tools! The museum is open in perpetual motion via air currents, on the right is removed, the wheel ceases to revolve.
